A Look Ahead

As we, the class of 1997, count down the last seconds of our last day of high school, we take one last look on all that has happened. We look back and remember the anxieties of our first years of high school. We thought senior year was so far away. We take one last look at all the wins and losses by all of our teams. We remember all the clubs and activities in which we were involved. We realized how much teachers helped us throughout the years. We wish the underclassmen as good a senior year as we had. We take one last look at our friends and the sadness that comes with the realization that no matter what we say we will probably lose touch with the people that made these years so special. Finally we take one last look at Chicopee Comprehensive High School. Missy Casa & Angie Cudworth, Co-Editors Memini 1997

DEDICATION

Mr. Casolari

Our favorite men: Mr. Casolari and Mr. Ingram.

DEDICATION

Mr. Ingram

Mr. Ingram smiles for his unexpected award.

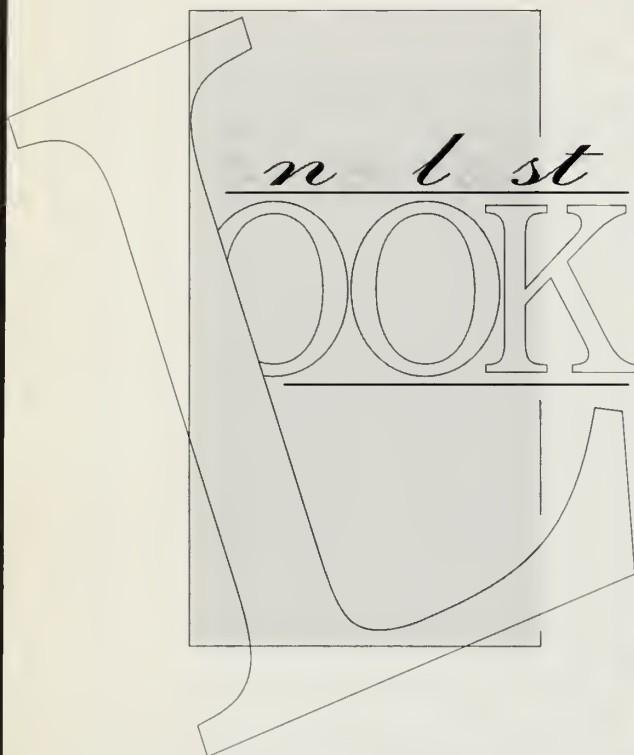

Mr. Casolari and Mr. Ingram have been an important part of the class of 1997's lives. As our class advisors they have put a substantial amount of time and energy into making our Senior year unforgettable. They have planned out our Senior week with the help of fund raisers and the class officers. They have gone through three long years of making sure everyone paid their dues. Even when the class seemed unambitious, they encouraged everyone that Senior year, especially Senior week, would be remarkable. Without their help the Seniors would not have a year to remember. They took a great deal of time and effort preparing for "the end." All this and even more has been done freely to help the class of '97. Overall this dedication surely fits these two amazing people. The Class of 1997 thanks them and knows they will never be forgotten.

Mr. Casolari and Mr. Ingram with the class officers: Jessica Deauseault, President; Angie Cudworth, Treasurer; Amy Centerbar, Secretary; and Kellie Wheeler (missing), Vice President.

Last Look Through the Years...

Class History

In the Beginning...

Freshman Year

In August 1993, Freshman orientation was "the event." We were given a tour of the school, and our expectations were raised. In September, the tour of Comp we had in August didn't seem to help much when the halls filled up. Getting lost became a daily occurrence. We didn't dare ask the upperclassmen anything for fear they would: A) laugh, B) give us the wrong directions, or C) ignore us because we weren't worthy of their presence. We still had homerooms, and the last half of the alphabet had lockers in the vocational wing that were big enough to live in, if only they weren't so far from our classes. The first floor was ours, and Channel 1 was the thing to watch in the morning. Freshman elections took place, midterms and finals were discovered, fire alarms went off, and we actually had a "her" dance. Mr. Casolari volunteered to be our class advisor. Freshman year was also the year we all watched Mr. Boulais kiss a fish on the morning announcements. On the weekends, we could either ask mom, dad, or siblings for a ride somewhere, but more often we used our feet. That year the swim team tied first place in their division, and the girl's softball team made it to the western MA finals. College was a distant concern as we stayed in school until June 24th because of numerous snow days. Freshman year was the beginning. Some of us parted from our friends in Junior High, but made new friendships and memories that would last a lifetime.

Still Growing Strong. . .

Sophomore Year

For many of us, sophomore year was easy. We no longer had to worry about being freshmen, only about how to tease them worse than we were teased. We began to think of ourselves as the "Class of '97." Our officers were Jeannie Stokowski, Pres.; Jessi Deauseault, V.P.; Angie Cudworth, Secretary; Kellie Wheeler, treasurer; with Mr. Casolari as class advisor. Many of us also bought class rings and attended the pizza party afterward. How many remember Kellie's New Year's party? Many of us were finally getting driving permits. I.D.'s were given out, and if Mr. Bellefeuille caught you without one you'd have to face Mrs. Fennessey who had just become assistant principal. Mr. Pinciaik had just become the new principal. Mr. Kuzdzal, who installed the motto "W.O.R.K." in our heads, retired early in the year. For those of us who wanted to torment an NHS or Pro Merito member, we could buy them for our "slave for a day" fund-raiser. We also had our first "Mr. CCHS" contest. That year, Mr. Desautels became our head football coach, the girls and boys soccer team won their division, and the boys swim team won Western MA.

Junior Year

We were now upperclassmen; during our junior year, the bonds among our class grew. Class meetings became more common, and we began to think about graduation. O.J. Sompson was declared not guilty that year. Many of us could drive, and we hung out at places like The Pit, the Wall, Motel 6, and Gauron's house. Our officers were still the same, Dues had to be paid by the end of the year. Mr. Ingram became a class advisor, and our class wore out its shoes in style at the walk-a-thon. A 20 day absence limit was enforced, but suspensions were still excused. We tried to get rid of exponents, and Holyoke still had priority in playing football against CHS on Thanksgiving. Ms. Lavallee and Mr. Czaporowski were new, young, popular teachers. It was also time for PSAT's and the NHS induction. The motorcade accident occurred, and we came close to winning the sword game. Our homecoming princess was Jessi. Is there such a thing as "Junioritis"? On March 29, 1996 everyone had a great time at the Junior Prom. The prom was held at Chez Josef, and the theme was "Hold on to the Night," which is what we did. Afterwards, we all celebrated at Chris Murphy's and Motel 6. We will never forget saying good-bye to the class of '96 and the excitement of being months away from becoming a senior. Junior year was a year to remember.

THE LAST LOOK

September 4, 1996 was the first day of our last year of high school memories. As we look back at all of Senior year's good times and bad, some things we'll never forget are: senioritis, the motoreade, never winning the sword game but coming close, the egg fight that never happened, SAT's again, outside gym for half the year, our new gym, receiving acceptance and rejection letters from colleges, Rescia's Senior "bonding" party, unexcused suspensions, Frolics, Senior week, and our officers Jessi Deauseault, Pres.; Kellie Wheeler, V.P.; Angie Cudworth, Sec.; and Amy Centerbar, Treasurer.

A chapter in our lives and in Comp's history is now at its end. The class of 1997 has been through a lot, from being "itty bitty" freshmen to "mighty mighty" seniors. Recent years have brought many changes in the way we look at things, what we know, and what we expect. These pages hold the last look at all of the friends, faculty, and classmates who have shared the last four years and who have been an important part of creating the memories that the class of '97 will never forget.

From the desk of the Principal...

As we look back to that September day in 1993, when for the first time the Class of 1997 sat together, we think of the many thoughts that crossed your mind. As you looked around in the Comprehensive gym, you saw many familiar faces. You also saw many that were not so familiar. As you looked, you also listened. You listened as we told you of the expectations that the Comprehensive High School staff had for you. We told you of new rules and regulations. We informed you of tougher standards imposed by the Education Reform Act of 1993. You would be the first freshman class to function under these new rules. Yes, it was a new place, new faces and new expectations.

We challenged you to be the best you possibly could. We told you that the changing world would accept no less. As you think back four years ago, the Internet was relatively new. The World Wide Web was in its infancy. How rapidly the world around you has changed.

In a few days, those of you who heeded our advice will be leaving the embracing arms of Comprehensive High School. You will be moving out into that ever changing and challenging world. In the words of Lee Iacocca, it will be your turn "to lead, follow or get out of the way." Yes, your turn to lead is just around the corner.

As you move to your next stage in your preparation for life, try to remember what we here at Comprehensive tried to implant in your mind and heart. Above all, love of family and country should be an important part of your future. Continue to develop the self-discipline that will enable you to succeed in whatever you choose to do. Don't be afraid to take a chance or rise to a challenge. Had not the industrial pioneers of days gone by been stout of heart, we would still be in the horse and buggy days.

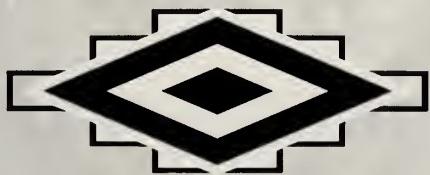

It is now your time. The time for the members of the Class of 1997 to move out into the corners of the globe and to pursue their goals and their dreams. It is time for them to prepare to step into leadership roles in education, business, industry or government. Every generation has an opportunity to make its mark in history, your time is now. Carpe diem.

As you move on through life and attain each level of success, remember that the truly great person does not forget where he or she came from. We will be cheering for you so stop back and say hello. To the Class of 1997 I wish you all good things. May your road of life be devoid of potholes and may God bless and keep you.

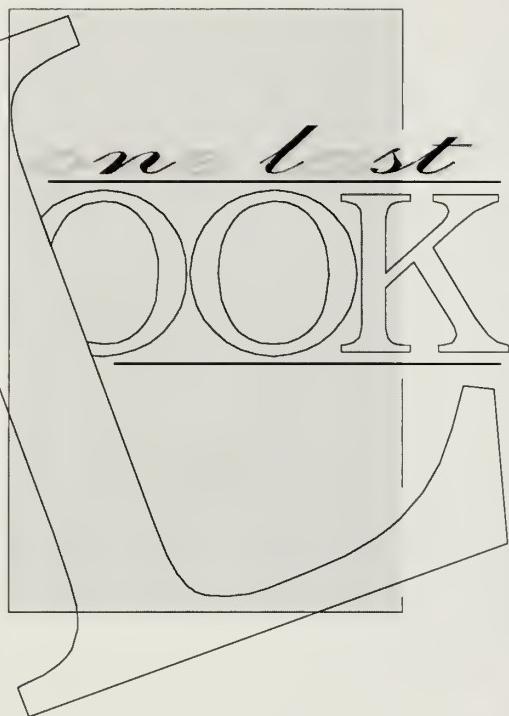

A Sonnet

For four long years
We've come so far
Now out to the world, to face our fears,
To see if our skills, are up to par
We worked so hard, to be so known
Soon to become, just another one
Living life, on our own
Wishing to again, have some fun
Once again, trying to find our path
To discover our perfect future
While avoiding all the world's wrath
But yet staying in synch, with our own nature
To find our place, in this world
Because one day, we will all unfold.

LASTING IMPRESSIONS

We've finally done it. We've made it through exams, homework, SAT's and many stressful days. Even when "senioritis" hit, we managed to earn our diploma. Although we're excited to leave Chicopee Comprehensive, we'll never forget all the memories we've made with our classmates. We will look back on all the good times and even the bad ones. Overall, we can just take one last look back and remember "the best year of our lives."

Danielle Samson and Darlene Darcy give us that Kool-Aid smile.

UNDERCLASSMEN

As the year comes to a close, the underclassmen are anxious to move up in their high school years. The juniors, soon to be seniors, await the most memorable year of their life. More pressure is put on the sophomores as they become upperclassmen. They must face class advisors for their dues and better grades for college acceptance. The freshmen start to move up into the world. They will receive their class rings and meet their class advisors. Overall, the underclassmen will take one last look upon this school year and wait the joys of the upcoming years.

Jessiea Gawron, Danielle Hebert, Rebeeca Budd, Julie Rouillard, and Brianne Sullivan demonstrate flashy junior smiles.

Stephanie Meade and Amy Cook prepare for the academic decathlon.

Elizabeth Popp, Kristen Robitaille, and Melanie Grabiec enjoy their lunch.

VOCATIONAL

The Vocational Department at Chicopee Comprehensive is like no other. It gives students the opportunity to explore their minds and work with their most desired skill. They can get to go into a field of choice in which they can learn the skills and techniques they need in real life. They can pick from many occupations like Auto Tech, Electrical, Foods and Carpentry. We are very lucky to have such a program. We would like to say good luck to all students and go for your goals. So, here is one last look at our Vocational Department.

AUTO BODY

Auto Body students learn safety and theory in the auto body trade. They learn how to block sanding, body filler, primer, sealer, base coat, and clear coat. Students also learn how to mask a car for a complete paint job and how to prepare a car for delivery.

Students in Theory learn about the new science of Unibody repair.

Auto Body Shop students learn how to remove and replace car hood, trunk lid, doors, bumpers and bumpers. They also learn adjustment of body panels and repair. Auto Body students prepare and paint complete cars for body shop projects.

Contributed by Mr. Augusto and Mr. Brooks

Upper: Beeky Paul, the only female Auto Body student, takes a new approach at wiping down a car.

Lower: Chris Arsenault puts his finishing touches on a car.

AUTO TECHNOLOGY

The Automotive Technology program is designed to give students a comprehensive understanding of the maintenance and repair aspect of the automotive repair industry. The curriculum includes "hands-on" training in such areas as brakes and suspension, cooling, electrical and emission control, systems to name a few.

The goal of the Automotive Technology program is to help the students develop automotive service skills and knowledge sufficient for acceptable job-entry performance.

Student projects consist of "shop-owned" vehicles as well as "live-work" (actual customer vehicles with real world problems) allowing students the opportunity to perform the diagnosis and repair.

Upper: Bill Wilson checks the oil on the car he is servicing.

Lower: Sidney Rodriguez works on a car's engine.

Upper: Zach Diantoni and Mr. Syriae check out something underneath the car.

Lower: Jason Audet enjoys a ride in a flying Turismo.

CARPENTRY

The seniors are working on the Baskin project for the Chicopee Highway department. They are learning how to do demolition work and frame new offices, sheet rock, and put up new ceilings.

The shop has also had several other projects throughout the year. They participated in the Haunted House in October, helped with the doors at Chapin School, and put in new wood for the girls' softball benches.

Eric Archambault can't be afraid of heights if he is to keep on working on this project.

Rick Dombek works hard sanding down his project.

Michael Lavigne works hard with the skill saw.

DRAFTING TECHNOLOGY

Drafters prepare technical drawings used by workers who build space craft, industrial machinery, manufactured products, office buildings, bridges, and other structures. Their drawings show the technical details of the products from all sides, with exact dimensions, specific materials that are going to be used, procedures that are to be followed, and other information needed to carry out the job. Drafters prepare and fill-in technical details, using drawings, sketches, specifications and calculations made by engineers, surveyors, architects, and scientists.

The Drafting Technology class encountered several interesting projects during 1996-1997. They designed the Chicopee Electric Light Department engineering symbol and worked on the C.E.L.D. architectural building layout. Students did a field survey of the architectural building layout of CCHS on the CAD system. Other projects included the ball park layout for Bowie/Selser School and the design and layout for fabrication of disposal units for Sullivan Steel Co.

Upper: Jason Bessette works out a problem on the computer.

Lower: Nancy Hernandez gets some help from Mr. Ingram.

Upper: Chris Guertin is mesmerized by Mr. Ingram

ELECTRICAL TECH. II

Students learn to install conduit, pull wires and make connections to supply lights, motors or appliances. Students will also wire the house in the shop which contains 90% of the electrical work in a new house.

The class has also conducted several projects within the building. They have installed computer cables and power for the new computer stations. They have repaired kitchen equipment and lighting in the building. The class also has wired the new kiln in the art room.

Contributed by Mr. Mitchell

Upper: Hipolito Rosario and Mr. Bruee Davidson test out the doorbell.

Lower: Andrew Daley uses a vise to bend conduit pipe.

Upper: John Kaloromaris studies the gauges.
Lower: George Seheibel focuses intently on his diagram.

ELECTRONICS

Students learn how to solder, build circuits and how to use equipment such as digital and analog multimeters, A.F. generators, and oscilloscopes. Students also study about direct current (DC) and alternating current. (AC).

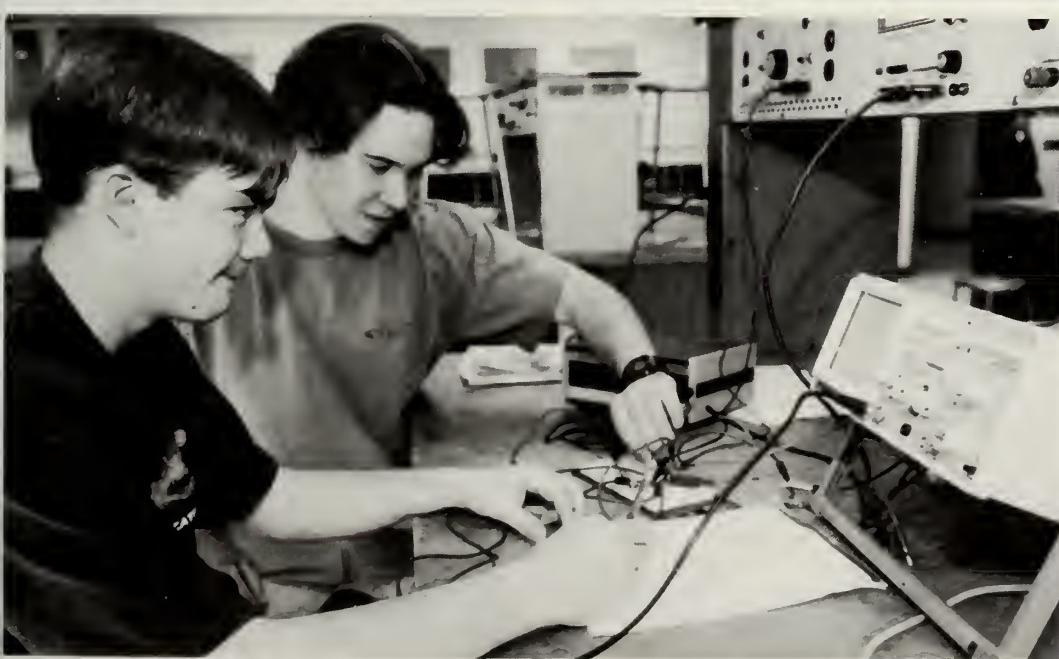

Students are introduced and do limited repair work on many different types of electronic equipment (VCR is one aspect of repair) stereos, and CD players.

Students also build a continuity tester, an electronic Christmas tree, an analog meter and a power supply during the year.

Contributed by Mr. Ziembra

Upper: Todd Riley and Mike Lareau get a jump start with the help of Mr. Ziembra.

Lower: Eric Lomba works on the electrical board.

Upper: John Caride is hard at work building his electrical car.

Lower: Steve Atkinson and Mark Suprenant have fun with the monitor.

FOODS

Students learn how to work in a food service environment by operating the restaurant Compaeinos. Safety, sanitation, and efficiency are stressed throughout the three year course.

Students have catered Vocational Advisory Committee functions and the V.I.P. graduation party. The class has served multicultural buffets to the student body and faculty. They have made gingerbread houses and conducted raffle at Christmas. Field trips are made to view various food service establishments first hand.

Upper: Jack Aspinall has to get the mixer just perfect.

Lower: Shawna Bell and Tony Ayala prepare to bake pizza.

Upper: Dan Davignon stirs up some food.

Lower: Christina Bonilla and Louise Pierce help each other mix up a batch of dough.

HORTICULTURE & LANDSCAPING

Students learn entry level skills in the landscape field which would include maintenance and installation of landscape design. The safe operation of landscape related tools is stressed. Students can qualify for entry into a college program such as Stockbridge School of Agriculture.

The class maintained lawn areas at various schools and city properties. They also participated in the beautification of the Comp grounds and maintained and upgraded the buildings at Comp. They have helped with the installation of lawns and maintenance at Chicopee Boys and Girls Club. They have made holiday wreaths, center pieces, and holiday boxes.

Upper: Josh McCray and John Paul Kozikowski help to beautify our school.

Lower: Omar Serrano busily works painting a bird house.

Upper: Ryan Bleau paints the odd one out.

Lower: Allison LaValley makes a decoration for Halloween.

MACHINE TECHNOLOGIES

Freshmen are introduced to basic machining through fun projects that include bike pegs and Colts key chains. Sophomores further develop their machining skills and practices through project based work like designing and manufacturing aluminum cars, clocks, brass bat key chains, skeletonized blocks and a steam engine. Juniors and seniors add the high tech use of the computer through design (AutoCAD) and during manufacture on C.N.C. turning and milling centers. They designed and manufactured chess sets on C.N.C. lathes, design, program, and manufacture a second logo, and C.N.C. turn and C.N.C. mill a CO₂ car.

Lower: Hey, Eric Shea, what are you welding?

Upper: Greg Gillette makes sparks fly during his welding assignment.

Lower: Rick Caride looks up in surprise from his welding measurements.

PRINCIPLES OF TECHNOLOGY

Principles of Technology is an Applied Physics class. Students learn by experiments using advanced technology to develop an understanding of mechanical, fluid, electrical, and thermal systems in eight basic areas. Students designed, constructed, raced and tested CO₂ vehicles, and magnetic levitation vehicles. They also constructed bridges of balsa wood, spaghetti, and toothpaste. They built mouse trap vehicles. In Robotics they designed a robotic arm with three plus axis. Students also have a Hologram production with laser studies.

Contributed by Mr. Stadnicki

Upper: Chris Roy seems pleased with his work.
Lower: Anthony Ceria paints for a grade.

Upper: Jessica Shirk transfers a drawing onto the computer.

Lower: Mr. Stadnicki instructs Applied Technology students Adam Mereer and Evette Nieves how to sand.

SPORTS

The buzzer has sounded, the finish line has been crossed, the wall has been touched, and the points have been scored all for the final time for seniors participating in sports at Chieopee Comp.

With the end of each season comes a time to look back on the successes and the failures, the bus trips to road games, the friendships made with teammates, and all those other pleasant sporting experiences. Whether or not one moves on to continue with sports after high school, the memories of the experiences will last a lifetime. Valuable lessons in sportsmanship, teamwork, and discipline are not left on the playing field but are carried on forever.

In this section of Memini 1997, we take "One Last Look" at the people whose lives have been enriched by the experience of participating in sports here at Comp.

Okay, who squirted Greg Janik and Tricia Lamica?

Comp football is back

The 1996 season has changed the way people look at Comp football. Despite a loss in the sword game against town rival Chicopee High, the Colts came within one game of becoming AA Conference champions. Their outstanding record this season was 8-3, the best in over a decade.

The Colts were led to many victories by the tremendous effort put in by an impressive group of seniors. Running backs Mike Chmura and Nick Bergeron contributed a great deal to Comp's offense, along with wide receiver Lou Shelton. The defense was also strong with the help of seniors Brian Blanchette, Tom Phelan, Scott Vient, Jack Aspinal, James Galarneau, and Marc Roy.

Congratulations to the seniors and the rest of the team who made this year's season the best.

Boys' soccer does well with inexperienced team

The boys' soccer team had a rough year after losing eight seniors from the previous year. With Nick Korny as our only senior, and only a couple of other returning starters, the team lacked the experience and leadership it needed. Despite the lack of experience and leadership, the team finished with a 6-7-3 record. The team ended in a second place tie with Amherst in the Churchill-Moriarity Division. The team earned a berth in the WMass Tournament but Coach Davis felt that the team did not have a good enough record to go to the tournament. On the bright side, all but one player will be returning next season.

Girls' Soccer team improves from last year's season

The girls' varsity soccer team finished with a 5-9-2 record. This was a rebuilding year for the Colts after losing 10 seniors from the previous year. There were many positions to be filled and the Colts took the challenge and proved themselves by defeating East Longmeadow, South Hadley and Chicopee.

Even though we only won five games, our record doesn't show how we improved throughout the season. The team always put more than 100% into the practices and games. By the end of the season, we were one as a team. I wish the team the best of luck. Always remember that "the power to win must come from within."

Boys' cross country team runs to second straight winning season

The 1996 Comp boys' cross country team accomplished something that had not been done in a long time. Fourth year coach Roger Bowden's harriers put together their second winning season in a row, posting a 6-5 mark to go along with last year's 7-4 showing. This season's success may have been more unexpected because of the loss of five key contributors from the year before.

Senior captain Matt Brach showed why he was one of the Valley League's top runners by posting a 7-1 record during the regular season. His only loss came to Amherst's Dave Patterson, the eventual Western Mass. champion.

Brach and fellow seniors Joe Zakrzewski, Josh Devine, Jeff Pike and Jay Remillard combined with sophomore Mike Clark and junior Scott Paul to place tenth as a team at the Western Mass. championships on a muddy day at Northfield Mt. Pete Menard was the only other senior on the squad and, like Brach, a four-year member of the team.

Patience, dedication highlight gymnastics team

Time, patience and dedication are the three words that can best describe the season of the '96-'97 girls' gymnastic team. With no gym and not enough time to repair it, there was little hope for the team to compete. We had our ups and downs but with help of our coaches and of each other, we pulled off more than would ever be expected.

"Our season wasn't that great as far as wins go, but the friendships we made are what really counts."

Stephanie Miller

"Improvement made the whole season worthwhile and I can't wait for next year."

Darlene Darcy

Sara Boyer

Boy boopsters improve greatly on previous two seasons

The Comp varsity boys' basketball team improved by leaps and bounds over last year's performance. The Colts won eight games (Longmeadow, South Hadley, West Springfield, Minnehaug, and two wins over Ludlow and Greenfield.)

The team had to play its early home games at the Elms College Gymnasium while renovations to the Comp gym were completed. The games were considered home games, but it just didn't feel like a home court atmosphere.

Head coach Dan Franezek had a young team to work with, and good things are bound to happen when that youth becomes experienced. Jim Hunt became the first freshman in recent memory to make the varsity team and even started a few games. He is definitely the future of the team. Sophomore Louis Villalongo started at guard all season. Junior forward Bill Pagel led the Colts in scoring and Adam Tetrault, another junior, provided key minutes off the bench. Seniors on the team were Lou Shelton, Gavin Miller, Eric LaPointe, Jeff Pike, Brian Jodoin, Niek Korny, and Mike Palmer.

Girls' basketball team just misses tournament

As a young, inexperienced team, we began our season against some powerful Western Mass opponents. Despite the slow start, we gradually started to put it together. The team played with a lot of heart and dedication as the season progressed.

Our first win came within the league against Westfield, which was the turning point of the season for us. The team really started to pull it together and play well. We then went on to beat Central but lost our next two games. We then won four straight beating Holyoke, Westfield, Central, and Chicopee. The Chicopee game was a big win for us because we needed to beat them to keep our tournament hopes alive. We then needed to defeat Amherst in our last game. Everyone on the team put their hearts on their sleeves but we lost by five points.

We may have had some difficult and challenging times, but overall everyone worked hard to keep it together and end the season on a positive note. We learned to play together as a team and have "FUN."

Boys' swim places third at WMass

The boys' swim team had a great year. Even though we had a losing season for the first time in six years, we took first and second in almost all our events. Many of the younger swimmers improved their times in their events. Mike Greenwood worked to improve his freestyle, Robert Barabani improved his backstroke time, and Greg Janik swam hard in the backstroke. Dan LaFond was a big help for the team. He pulled off second place finishes when we needed it and helped the relays pull off first place finishes. Senior Mark Heishman helped the team out, but could not finish the season for medical reasons.

The Four Horsemen, seniors Bogdan Bryda, Steve Fontaine, Dan McLean, and Sean Purell, were the core of the team. The four of them took third place at Western Mass. and sixth place at States. Dan led the team in the IM butterfly and breaststroke events. Steve took the 50 and 100 yard freestyle events, and Sean and Bogdan took first and second respectively in the 200 and 500 yard freestyle. The Horsemen also dominated the 200 and 400 freestyle relays.

The seniors will be leaving a young team behind, a team that has potential to build itself over the next couple of years. However, one thing is certain, Comp swimming will not be the same any more.

Girls' swim team has an outstanding season

This year the girls' swim team had an outstanding season ending in a tie for second place in the A Division with an overall record of 10-2. Nine swimmers qualified for Western Mass. where the team finished third.

During the season everyone's times improved. Next year the team should be stronger than ever. We are losing four seniors but with the strong spirit and great enthusiasm of the underclassmen, the team should have a fantastic season and have a good chance of winning Western Mass.

Hockey team goes undefeated in their division

The Comp hockey team had a very successful season, led by senior captains Greg Hamelin, Gary Lawrence, and Peter Menard and junior captain Mike Viens. The team won the Wright Division by going undefeated. The team's success was the result of a lot of hard work by everyone. The two goalies, Mark Donnelly and Shaun Radziuk were a huge part of the team's success. They were helped by Gary Lawrence, Kevin Kulig, Jon Kubik and Chris Galindo on defense. The offense was led by Hamelin, Menard and Viens, who were all in the top ten scorers in the league. The team put a lot of effort into the season and all of the players should be proud of the outcome.

Nature takes toll on ski team

The biggest factor to any sports team is practice, and because of the lack of snow, the ski team was restricted to only one practice this season. Despite uncooperative weather, the ski team continued to work hard towards a successful season.

Senior Briana Kane had faith in the girls' team. "It's been really tough since we had only one practice, but the girls' team had a really good season, we were third in our division."

Junior Steve Couture had confidence in the boys' team but did see a better outlook for next season. Couture said, "This year had been tough because we were moved up a division and with only one practice, we were going against better prepared teams. Next year will be better!"

The girls who placed in their division included Darlene Dary, 6th, Holly Sabourin, 9th, Briana Kane, 12th, and Kelly Robert, 17th. When Steve Couture finished in first place on his slalom run, it ranked him 32nd on the entire hill.

Hopefully in future years there will be more snow and both teams will continue to do well.

'97 is our year..... We are back, we are here

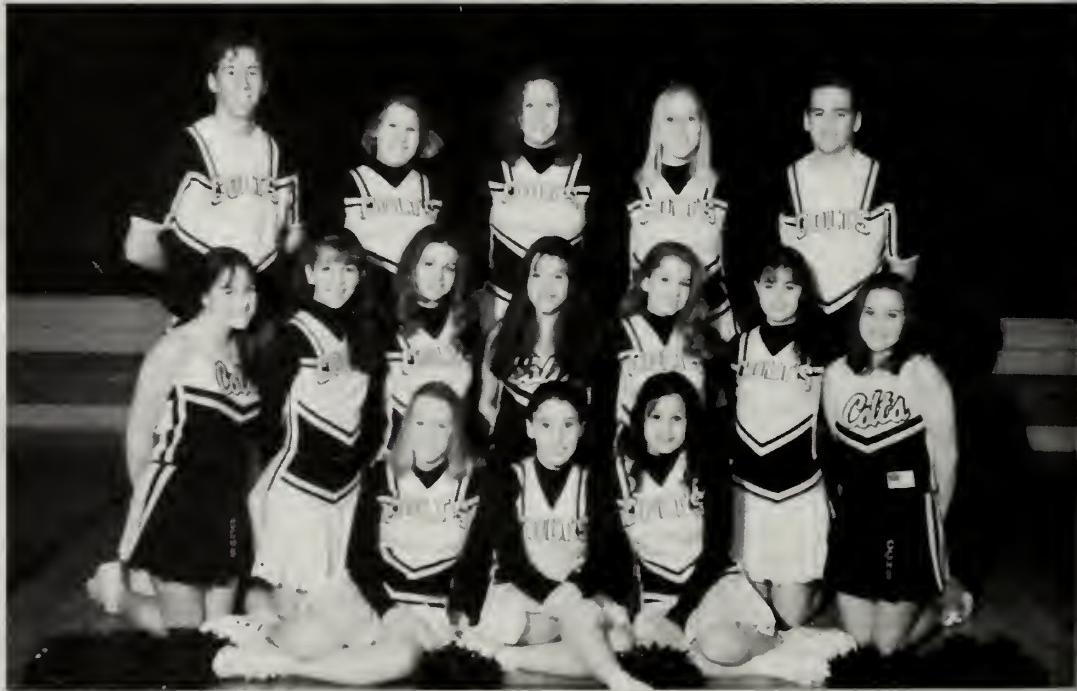

Cheerleading takes hard work, dedication, and never-ending school spirit for three seasons, fall, winter, and spring.

This year proved to be a rebuilding year for the Comp cheerleaders. We acquired a new coach at the beginning of this year, but by the middle of the season, our former coach, Mrs. McKenzie, came back to her longtime position as our varsity head coach. Along with her return, the squad returned to competition after one year of not competing against area cheerleaders, by participating in four competitions in March.

As Chicopee Comprehensive High School prepares to meet the challenges of the Twenty-first Century, Student Council members' roles are also changing. Student Council has become community service oriented. Council members have participated in the CROP Walk and Coats for Kids, read to students at Lambert-Lavoie Elementary School, adopted several children through 99.3's "Adopt a Kid" Christmas program, as well as collected numerous cans for the Chicopee Soup Kitchen.

In March, members planned activities to promote community and school spirit. Spirit Week has become an important and enjoyable part of both social and academic involvement.

In June, Student Council will open its membership to the entire student body. Students are invited to become "associate" members of Student Council to help promote the new spirit of cooperation and community awareness among students at CCHS.

AIDES

We are fortunate enough to have quite a few helpers here at Comp. These helpers assist many people and make things run a lot smoother in the office, the library , and now in the guidance department. The office aides help to lighten the work load of our hard working staff. They do anything from making phone calls to addressing letters to parents. The library aides assist students in our expanding library by making photocopies, helping with the computers, and finding the books for that upcoming term paper. Lastly, our newly founded guidance aides assist the counsellors and Mrs. Quesnal in errands and give the seniors information on the latest scholarships and college visits.

ACADEMIC TEAMS

Schools Match Wits

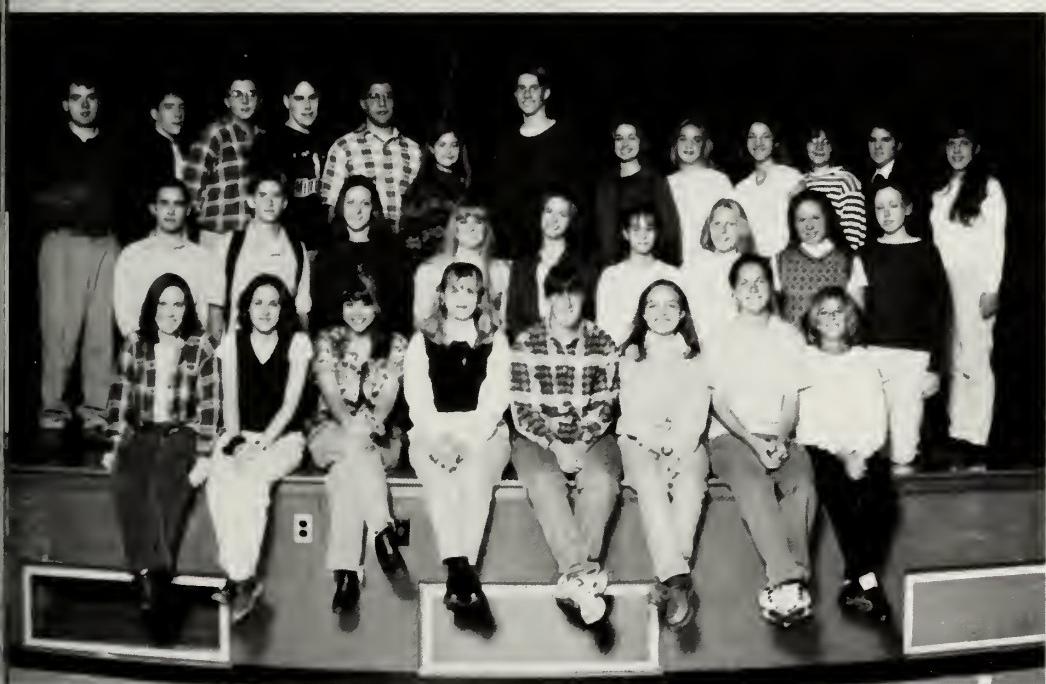

CCHS has participated in the television quiz show, As Schools Match Wits, for over 35 years. The purpose of the program is to compete against other local area high schools. Each school has four contestants with one alternate who work together to answer various questions. Once one school has defeated three others, they are retired until the playoffs, which usually take place in June of the same academic year. The show can be seen on WWLP-TV-2 on Saturdays at 7:30pm.

Academic Decathlon

CCHS has participated in the Western Massachusetts Academic Decathlon for the past four years. Our team competes against various other schools from Western Massachusetts. The purpose of this competition is to have a team of nine score the highest amount of points on a series of tests. The test topics include speech, an interview, math, science, literature, and Social Studies. Individual team members who score in the top three in a specific category win a gold, silver, or bronze medal. The two highest scoring teams overall go on to compete in the United States Academic Decathlon against schools from around the country.

Debate Team

Each year a team of students represents Chicopee Comp in the Connecticut Valley Debate League debating an issue of national importance. For example in the '96-97 debate season, the team will argue whether or not the United States needs a Federal program to fight the serious problem of juvenile crime. The team will work for months, looking at research and expert opinion, finding the evidence they need to prove to any judge that they are in the right. Finally, they will stand across from their opponents and try to speak persuasively enough to defeat them. Team captain Justin Pare hopes Comp. can maintain or improve on their second place finish achieved last year.

This is the 10th anniversary of the present incarnation of the drama club. After proposition 2 1/2 all extracurricular activities were eliminated for a few years. The drama club is made up of students who have an interest in various aspects of theater—both onstage and off. Some of the reasons students cite for joining the club include “to gain self confidence,” “to make friends,” “to become a better actor,” and “to have fun.” All these things and more are possible.

The club endeavors to mount two or three productions each year. Past projects have included showcases, one-act play festivals, play competitions, an AIDS awareness play and video, alcohol education plays, full-length plays, and children’s plays. The group usually goes on at least one field trip to see a professional production each year.

This year the drama club is working in cooperation with the Chicopee Centennial Community Theater to present a Christmas Play at City Hall in conjunction with the city’s tree lighting ceremony.

BAND & COLORGUARD

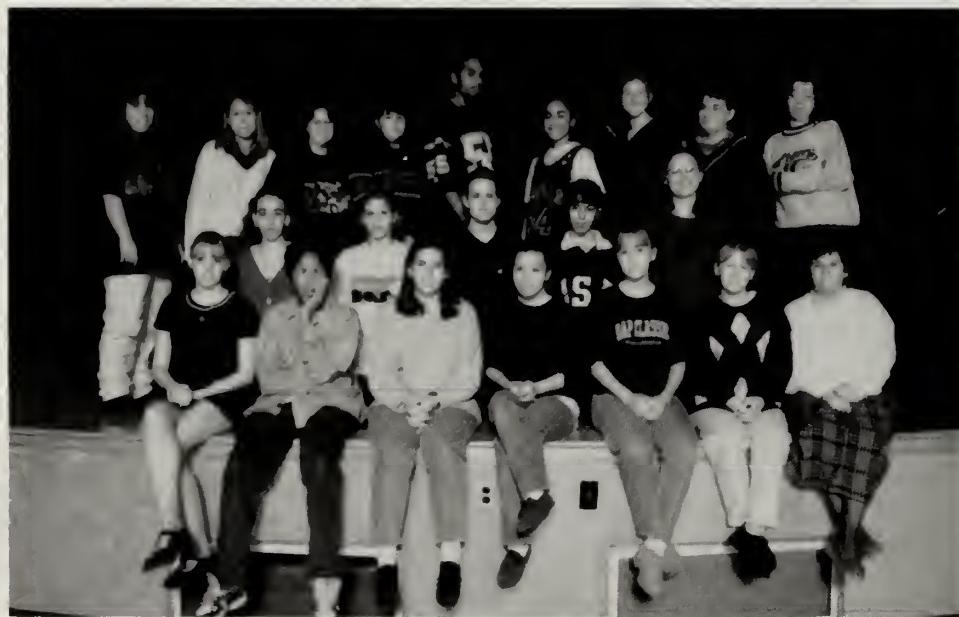

Over the past four years, we have done many things that we will always remember: marching in parades, freezing at Friday night football games and Thursday night practices, playing concerts in that small auditorium, arguing over what fund raisers we should do, and of course, complaining about how dumb we look in those 1970's uniforms; but, we still, and always will wear them with pride. When it comes to performing, you can see the drive, the dedication, and gracious winning style we have gained together. So, with hopes for the good luck to continue, we will know: "Band won't wear off as the day wears on."

CHORUS

The chorus this year has grown from 12 to 23. Yet we have grown not only in size but in ability too. We don't only practice singing, but breathing techniques and music notation. We have performed in various concerts over the years and hope to begin competing soon. We may sound weak at times, but we know we are strong in heart, strong in voice, and have grown together. Maybe someday we will achieve that first place spot. In our hearts, we are in that spot already.

Senior attends college in Providence

Senior Jennifer Cossaboom has had a unique senior year, spending it in Providence, Rhode Island attending college.

Jennifer is attending Johnson and Wales University in a special access program that allows high school seniors to take college courses for both high school and college credit. She is enrolled as a four year Culinary Arts major that includes two years of studying Culinary arts and two years studying Management.

Jennifer was able to take the program because she only needed to pass a U.S. History and English course to fulfill her requirements for a high school diploma. She is currently enrolled in these two classes in Providence.

At the same time, she is also taking college level courses in Continental Cuisine, American Regional Cuisine, Dining Room Service, Stocks and Sauces, and Storeroom. She also has classes in Finite Math, Professional Development, and Sanitation.

She finds some aspects of college life not much different than high school: "You have homework and go back and do work just like at home."

However, some things have changed. She has three roommates and was "excited at first, and then we wanted to kill each other, but we finally have worked our problems out."

Cultural Club

The Cultural Club was started in 1993, and its goal has been to learn about each students' culture. The club tries to reach a better understanding of why and how different cultures do things. The club is about celebrating diversity and encourages all students of different ages and races to get involved. There is a monthly meeting, and the students discuss the different cultural interests. They go on trips, and also have meals to sample different cultural cuisine. The members enjoy the club and interacting with various nationalities.

WORKING IT OUT

Peer Mediation

Peer mediation began at Comp in January 1994, and Mr. Larkin has been coordinator of this program since September, 1995. The purpose of peer mediation is to help reduce the number and severity of conflicts at Comp. At the present time there are 40 student mediators and about 8 faculty mediators, each of whom have spent several days developing the skills necessary to become good mediators. They all give freely of their time to help make Comp a better and safer school.

Peer Education

Peer Ed is a group of high school students who teach fifth grade students in local elementary schools about self esteem (good and bad), decision making, and the harmful effects of Drugs and Alcohol. We reach out to these children to help them get the education and background they need to succeed in life. I believe Peer Ed does a valuable job because the students are highly involved. They work on skits, peer group meetings, voicing their opinions, and real life problem solving. Peer Ed also puts the fun back into education, and that's what the children need so they don't get bored. Our goal is for them to want to continue their education. - contributed by Amy Delphia

Jason Remillard with his extraterrestrial friend.

Getting measured for caps and gowns.

Formal Dances

Parking lots in all kinds of weather.

Waiting to go inside.

In the classroom.

STUDENT LIFE

Kids in the hall.

Spirits High

Hey, old guy! Get out of the way!

Football players get all the chicks!

Shannon cheers on the team!

Cheering for the team!

at the Game with High!

The football team's winning streak was broken by the sword game. We were crushed 32-8, but spirits were high. It was a gloomy day, but the fans still showed- with and without their shirts! We didn't get the sword, but the Pacer's mascot "lost" his head. Even though our team played their hearts out, it still wasn't enough to beat those Pacers. Thanks to "Mr. Everything," Mike Chmura, we did at least manage to get on the board. We didn't win, but we still had a great season. Good job, guys!

Sorry Pacers!

Tom Dugre: What cheer are we doing?

Comp guys take it off for their team!- Jerod Howell, Rick Dombeck, Jimmy Feliciano, Peter Zawadzki, & Joe Haniffy.

STUDENT COUNCIL CHRISTMAS PARTY

Guess who doesn't belong here?

The members of the student council finally get a break, get to relax, and get out on the dance floor! The annual student council Christmas party was a success, and everyone found different ways to entertain themselves. We are looking forward to next year!

"Two" cute. (Jeannie and Pam)

Anybody want seconds? (Crystal Stokowski, Coleen Henessey, Keli Jarvis, Katie Demers)

Queen of the party. (Briana Kane)

CAFETERIA LIFE

Mike— saving that for later?

Let us in on the joke.

The cafeteria has always been a place of wonder and excitement. The great food and high spirits have been heightened by the newly decorated walls.

Is someone, like, taking our picture?

We're not smiling about the food!

Amy's got all the guys.

Sper cheerful Dan Paquette.

Seniors at the Cotillion.

Karolina Kabala & Erin Michaelis.

"Let me clear my throat."

DANCES

Sara & Justin posing for the camera.

"This is how we do it."

Jay Beaudry & Jenny Ferreira cuddling at the cotillion.

"C'mon 'n ride the train."

Pam Lombardi & Peter Zawadski.

Don't just stand there! Help me! (Arty LaFlamme)

The girls and their "snow" men. (Jessica Gawron, Brianne Sullivan, and Carolina Caballa)

Welcome to the wonderful world of electronics!

Matt busting out! (Matt Brock)

Don't even think of taking my M&M's. (Tim Demears, Tanya Garafola, Dorothy Makselon)

Dave Fernandes, Mr. Bigda, Robin Ford, Erin Hennessey,
Jessie Scott, Jessica Deauseault, Kelly Roberts, Gina Regonini.

Sleeping on the job...

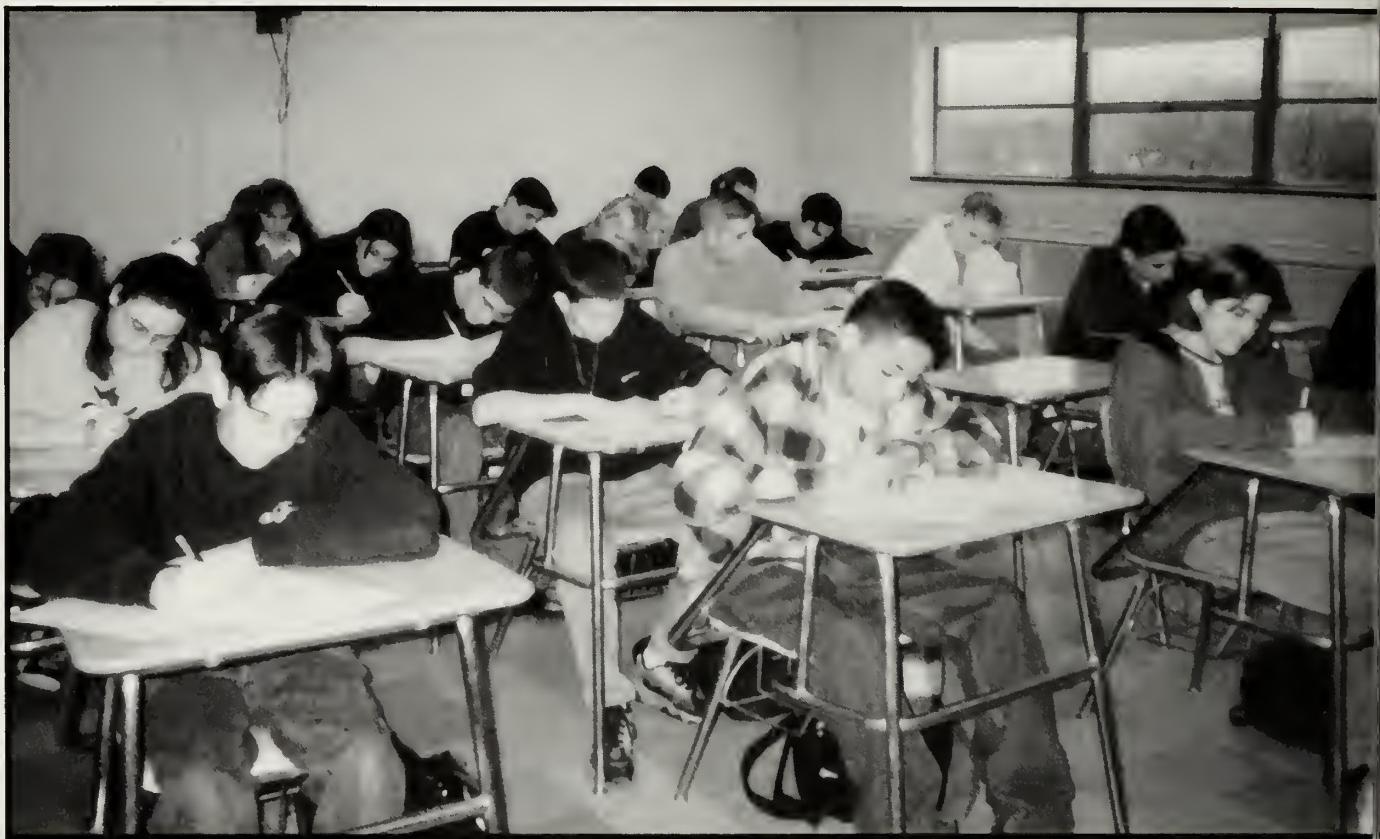

Denise, are you looking for answers?

CLASSES

Ms. Costello with all the answers.

Freshmen studying hard.

Habla Espanol? (Steve Kaluka)

See my pretty bell?

It's a tough job, but someone has to do it. (Tom Roberts)

I am 'the thinker.' (Mare Roy)

Ready...aim...fire! (Jeff Gladu)

Friends:

$e=mc^2$: Entertainment = Mr. Clark²

Margaret Gladski and Sarah Cassidy: "Peace."

"Smile for the camera", Amber Quesnal and Sylvia Zawadzki.

Hangin' in the hallway!

Together Through It All

As you walk down the halls here at Chicopee Comp, you see different groups of friends. Everyone has a style of their own, and this style expresses their individual personalities. Groups of friends often have a style as well. In society, people tend to gather around others who are similar to them. This is sometimes true when applied to a high school, but we also get to know all different kinds of people. It is very easy to tell which persons or groups of people are friends by their behavior towards each other. You hear bits of casual conversation like "what's going on tonight?" or "I'll pick you up at 6:30 for the football game."

These four years might be the best four years of our lives. If so, it is because of the great friends we have. We have been influenced by our parents and teachers, but our friends are there in the most trying times. The friends you choose will reflect upon you. These friends are there to help you through, or at least distract you from any unpleasant times— always right there "through it all."

Where did my friends go? (Sarah Cassidy)

Aaaah! They're so cute! (Jessie Deauseault & Kellie Wheeler)

The Three Stooges: Brian Blanchette, Tim Demears, & Tyrone Osiomalo.

Traffic jam in the hallway.

Katie Wilkins & Sarah Cote.

Silly, Silly Sophomores.

"Smile for the camera!" (Kristen Szetela and Jordyn Boesch).

Eight is great!

Justin & Sara-- enough said.

Comp's cutest couple.

Smiling for Education!-- Heather McCann and Elissa Gonzalez.

Three "peace" in a pod. (Matt Brach, Pam Lombardi, and Josh Devine.)

Congratulations, Briana Love, Mom and Dad

You are a great son James and a terrific brother. We are proud of you. You always make us laugh with your sense of humor. We hope life brings you much happiness, success, and wealth. Always keep that positive attitude of yours and keep smiling.

Love, Mom, Dad, Marie
and Snuggles too.

You've changed from a cute, little girl to a beautiful young lady.
I'm so proud of you.
Congratulations to you on this your special day.
I Love you,
Mom

Jennifer,
We are so proud of your early acceptance to college. We knew you could do it. The best of luck at Johnson & Wales University.
Love, Mom, Dad, Jeff, & Andrea

"Don't be content with being average. Average is as close to the bottom as it is to the top."

Congratulations, Jim
We love you and good luck.
Love, Mom, John, Marisa, and Justin

Peter,
34 X-Country meets, 80 hockey games, 16 report cards, now graduation. We are very proud of you.
